MISCELLANEOUS.

The Sun,

NEW YORK, 1882.

THE SUN for 1882 will make its fifteenth annual revolution under the present management, shining, as always, for all, big and little, mean and gracious, contented and unhappy, Republican and Democratic, dept vted and virtuous, intelligent and obtuse. The SUN'S light is for mankind and womankind of every sex; but its genial warmth is for the good, while it pours hot discomfort on the blistering backs of the persistently wicked.

The SUN of 1868 was a newspaper of a new kind. It discarded many of the forms, and a multitude of the superstitions words and phrases of ancient journalism. It undertook to report in a fresh, succinct, unconventional way all the news of the world, omitting no event of human interest, and commenting upon actual life with the fearlessness of absolute independence. The success of this experiment was the success of the SUN. It effected a permanent change in the style of American newspapers. Every important journal established in this country in the dozen years past has been modeled after the SUN. Every important journal already existing has been modified and reformed by the force of the SUN'S example.

THE SUN of 1882 will be the same outspoken, truth-telling, and interesting newspaper.

By a liberal use of the means which an abundant prosperity affords, we shall make it better than ever before.

We shall print all the news, putting it into readable shape, and measuring its importance, not by the traditional yardstick, but by its real interest to the people. Distance from Printing House Square is not the first consideration with the SUN. Whenever anything happens worth reporting we get the particulars, whether it happens in Brooklyn or in Bokhara.

In politics we have decided opinions; and are accustomed to express them in language that can be understood. We say what we think about men and events. That habit is the only secret of the SUN'S political course.

The WEEKLY SUN gathers into eight pages the best matter of the seven daily issues. As Agricultural Department of unquestioned merit, full market reports, and a liberal proportion of literary, scientific and domestic intelligence complete the WEEKLY SUN and make it the best newspaper for the farmer's household that we can possibly print.

Who does not know and read and like the SUNDAY SUN each number of which is a Golconda of interesting literature with the best poetry of the day, three or more fine wood engravings, news, humor—matter enough to fill a good sized book, and infinitely more varied and entertaining than any book, big or little?

Such is our idea of what a newspaper should be pleases you, send for the SUN.

Our terms are as follows:

For the daily SUN, a four-page sheet of twenty-eight columns, the price by mail, post paid, is 55 cents a month, $6.50 a year, or, including the Sunday paper, an eight-page sheet of fifty-six columns, the price is 65 cents per month, or $7.70 a year, post age paid.

The Sunday edition of the SUN is also furnished separately at $1.20 a year, postage paid.

The price of the WEEKLY SUN, eight pages, fifty-six columns, is $1 a year, postage paid. For clubs of ten sending $10 we will send an extra copy free.

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvelous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equaled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has completely changed the dangerous diseases of their terrors to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their painful effects, that is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its early use in sudden attacks.

SCIENTIFIC MISCELLANY.

—Some experiments were lately made in a Russian town with a fire-extinguishing powder. Upon contact with the flames, the powder produces heavy fumes in such overwhelming quantities as to completely stifle the fire. A few boxes were thrown into a burning naphtha and petroleum store, and the doors and shutters were securely closed. In two hours the building was opened and found to be filled with the dense fumes from the powder, but entirely free from fire. The powder is expensive, but, as is wisely remarked, not so expensive as conflagration.

—Considering the sense of pain in fishes, Mr. C. S. Bentley concludes that the peculiar nervous system and very small perceptive brain of a fish, together with the fact of its being cold-blooded, precludes it from being highly sensitive to pain. This view is extensively corroborated.

—Among the many practical applications of Faure's electrical accumulators suggested, is that of using them for utilizing the waste of water power during the hours when such power is not employed in ordinary work, as at night, etc. In many localties waste energy might be stored up in this way to advantage.

—Observations as to fuel consumed have been made on locomotives of the Hanover Bremen railway, showing, among other results, that the locomotives are sometimes run with a loss of only fifteen or twenty per cent of heat up chimney.

—Sea-water contains about two per cent. of salt, while the water of Great Salt Lake has twenty-two per cent.

—The earth seems destined soon to lose its giants. No creatures of the present day approach in size the monsters of early ages; while an eminent French authority has recently observed that all the larger living animal species the world over, including the lion, tiger, gorilla, giraffe, elephant, hippopotamus, and others, are rapidly becoming extinct.

—The Austrian Society of Engineers has had its attention called to a new application of electricity in the form of an underground railway for the transmission of mails. The locomotive and train can be constructed of any convenient small size, and will perform the same service for any distance which the pneumatic tube will perform for short distances. The locomotive will require no accompanying attendant, as, the battery or motive power not being on the locomotive, it can be guided and controlled from a stationary point.

—"From the rarity," says Sir John Lubbock, "and in many cases the entire absence, of reference to blue in ancient literature, Geiger—adopting and extending a suggestion thrown out by Mr. Gladstone—has maintained that, even as recently as the time of Homer, our ancestors were blue-blind. Though for my part I am unable to adopt this view, it is certainly very remarkable that neither the 'Rigveda,' which consists almost entirely of hymns to heaven, nor the 'Zendavesta,' the Bible of the Parsees or fire-worshippers, nor the Old Testament, nor the Homeric poems, ever allude to the sky as blue."

—The great telescope—perhaps the largest equatorial telescope in the world—now being constructed for the observatory near Nice is to have an object-glass three feet in diameter and a focal length of over fifty feet.

—A veteran Swiss watchmaker claims to have devised a means of keeping watches running for years without winding up. A sealed box containing two watches was placed in the keeping of the municipal authorities of Vouvry on the 19th of January, 1879. The box has just been opened, and the watches were found going.

—The discovery of a new island off the coast of Peru is reported. It is about a mile in length, of nearly the same width, and evidently of volcanic origin.

—Great accuracy is necessary in the construction of standard weights, and numerous precautions against error are essential in making final comparisons. Some of these have been described by Messrs. Deville and Mascart. A balance should never be opened during the long series of operations upon which the comparison of two weights is based. Its cage, composed of two envelopes of glass, bordered with cloth, should be guarded from the external air, which would change the hygrometric state of the interior and would introduce dust. The particles of dust notch the knife edges and change the velvet linings of the weight boxes into a material comparable to emery paper. Air may be forced into the interior at the rate of four or five quarts per hour, having been first freed from dust by filtering through cotton and dried by chloride of potassium. The substance which seems to produce the least wear on alloys of platinum and iridium is ivory, which has the further advantage of resisting moisture and other atmospheric influences. Standard weights should, therefore, be kept in glass cylinders, with ivory caps at top and bottom.

—M. Dogiel's recent researches show that music affects the circulation and respiration of animals as well as of human beings.

Some men always look on the bright side of things. Gallagher came in the other day chuckling over having made $250. He had just lost $250 playing faro, but his friends assured him the experience was worth $500.

TEMPERANCE TOPICS.

A bill to provide for a commission of enquiry concerning the liquor traffic, has three times passed the United States Senate. It has twice been favorably reported by committees of the House but afterwards smothered without coming to a vote. The brewers and liquor dealers association claims to have caused its defeat. By what means this was done can only be conjectured. Two conclusions however, are inevitable. First that the liquor dealers are afraid to have any light thrown upon the conditions of their traffic and its relations to the country, and secondly that the rum interest of the country though embracing only one per cent. of the adult population—already controls the legislature of the country. See to it; that you send men to congress who will not be bought with the rum sellers money to betray the trust imposed in them.

ald, writing of the causes which attended the late defeat of local-option in the Tennessee Legislature, says: "It is an undisputed fact that during the consideration of the bill whisky was furnished in the capital, where every member who wanted it could be treated, and one or two members became intoxicated." Another correspondent of another paper, the Monroe Democrat, writes: "The opponents of the bill (local option) had in an adjoining room—according to their own statement—some of the richest, rarest, finest, choicest, and costliest drinks that the first-class saloons of the city could afford." Temporarily, the liquor men, through such unscrupulous means, are masters of the situation. Primarily, temperance electors have the power in their own hands, wherever they are in a majority, if they will but nominate and elect to legislative positions only such candidates as will make no compromise with and give no quarter to strong drink. Thus alone can the liquor men be defeated, and their corrupting liquors be banished from the ante-rooms and lobbies of our legislative halls.

At the annual meeting of the National Association of Distillers and Spirit dealers held in Chicago, Oct. 12th, the committee on Sumptuary Legislation, made the following report, which was adopted:

"The committee recommend the appointment of a permanent committee of nine which shall have charge of State legislation affecting the trade, the president of the society to be chairman of said committee.

That every State in which two-thirds of the distillers and wholesale liquor-dealers are members of this society shall be entitled to the assistance of the society, whenever it is needed, to resist attempted legislation injurious to the trade."

This would seem to indicate that the association do not consider prohibitory legislation a failure.

He alone by whom the hairs of our head are numbered, can count the widows who are widows because of alcohol; the gray heads that it made gray; the sad hearts that it has crushed with sadness; the ruined families that it has ruined; the brilliant minds that it has quenched; the untold promises which it has cankered; the bright and happy boys and girls whom it has blasted into misery; the young and gifted whom it has hurried into dishonored and nameless graves.—Canon Farrar.

If whiskey has ever organized an institution whose aim was the upholding of Christ's kingdom, or has ever reformed a drunkard, or saved a lost or ruined soul, we have failed to see it. Does it add converts to the church, or converts to the penitentiary? Does it add philosophers and statesmen to our nation, or does it add subjects to our asylum and paupers to the workhouse? Does it educate the mind, or does it dethrone reason? Does it create love, peace and happiness, or strife, quarreling and misery?

Great Britain has closed the door on Sunday liquor traffic in Scotland, Ireland and Wales; America has closed the doors on election days. Maine and Kansas have run up the flag of prohibition. Iowa, Indiana, and other States are lighting up the beacon fires of their amendment clubs, and the workers of the new crusade from the Atlantic to the Pacific, are in earnest, and on this line we'll fight it out! Blood poisoning must cease. Prohibition must rule.

Nearly every candidate for local offices in the city of New York, irrespective of party, is a saloon-keeper. It is hard to expect men to enforce laws, who continually violate them themselves by keeping the side doors of their gin places open on Sundays, holding political caucuses and dispensing five-cent whiskey to their heelers, friends and admirers.

Say what they please of the prohibition law of Kansas, it is pressing against some people's tender corns, or there would not be so much fuss about it. If drinkables are more plentiful and saloons more numerous, as it is asserted, why is not every toper bowling in favor of the law?

The distillers of Illinois have just begun to realize that too much whisky is being produced. Alas! too true. The jails, penitentiaries, and lunatic and orphan asylums of the State tell the story plainly. Too much of it is being consumed for the good of the country.—Chicago Daily News.

The respectability of saloon-keeping is enhanced by frosted windows and screen doors. It thrives under privacy, but withers and slowly perishes under open windows and unscreened doorways.—Northwestern News.

The corrupting influence of intoxicating liquors in politics and legislation is a matter of serious moment, which should command the earnest and thoughtful consideration of every good citizen. A correspondent of the Greenville (Tenn.) Her-

IF I WERE YOU.

If, dear, my eyes, like yours, were laughing blue,
And in their depths there lay a glimpse of heaven,
I would not cloud with frowns their tender hue,
Nor dim with tears the light unto them given,
But I would strive to make so pure and true
The soul reflected there—if I were you.

If fairy hands had left upon my face
One single charm that others cared to see;
If on my lips there lingered e'en a trace
Of your sunny smiles, it seems to me
I would not long—as I so vainly do—
For countless fairer gifts—if I were you.

And if the world, so bright and tempting now,
Should strive to skill you in its varied ways,
And grant the lesson may not teach you how
To live but for the gain of worldly praise,
I'd be content to safely carry through
My own bright nature, dear, if I were you.

PROMPT COLLECTIONS NECESSARY TO BUSINESS SUCCESS.

Making prompt collections is the secret of many a merchant's success and a neglect to do this the cause of many a commercial failure.

There is a class of customers who seldom purchase anything of the retail grocer without wishing to have it "charged." Many of these persons are abundantly able to pay cash for what they buy, but from long habit and an innate desire to get the use of their money as long as possible, they avoid the payment of their obligations until the latest moment. It is difficult to refuse credit to such parties, yet as a general thing, their patronage is not profitable to the grocer.

Making prompt collections is one of the most difficult problems the retailer is called upon to solve in his business experience, and at the same time one of the most important matters that he should attend to in connection with his commercial affairs. He must be firm in his refusal to trust slow-paying or irresponsible parties. He must be cautious about offending people who are disposed to trade with him. He must constantly exercise tact, caution, and good judgment in all his dealings with customers. He must adopt a system of rules in regard to giving credit, and must strictly adhere to them. He must avoid all partiality if possible, treating all customers as near alike as he can. He must insist that he needs the money due him in order to successfully carry on his business and to replenish the depleted stock upon his shelves.

It is not pleasant or agreeable to dun people for money, but it should be done energetically, and prompt payment must be insisted upon.

No retailer can long be successful in business who gives unlimited credit. If in a spirit of accommodation he trusts everybody who asks for credit, his stock will soon disappear from the shelves and counters, and he will find himself without the requisite means to replenish it.

When a grocer starts in business he is always disposed to be obliging, and customers who cannot get trusted anywhere else come to him and tell him how generous they are going to be giving him their patronage. He unwittingly trusts them and before he is aware he finds himself with a large quantity of bad bills on his hands and uncollectable accounts little better than worthless. This is one great reason why so many really energetic men who start in business finally fail; bad debts and a neglect to make prompt collections soon "floor" them financially.

Many well-to-do individuals are very negligent in paying their grocers' bills. And those who are not well-to-do in this worlds' goods consider the accout for family supplies the last one to be remembered and attended to.

The retail grocer had better keep his stock on his shelves than to dispose of it at long credits. There is really so little margin of profit on staple commodities which are principally in demand, that the dealer must sell for cash or soon discontinue his business. He should endeavor to impress this important fact upon the minds of those who patronize him, and unless they are uttery unreasonable they will appreciate his situation and do what they can to help him along.

In making collections the merchant must always endeavor to hold his temper, for he frequently meets with great provocation in collecting his accounts. He must be firm but courteous and polite to all. Never have a personal altercation with a slow paying customer if it can possibly be avoided, for if he fancies he has a grievance it is doubtful if he ever pays without he is compelled to by a court of law.

Retail grocers have had a hard time of it during the past six years; thousands have failed in business who started out with the hope and expectation of obtaining a competence, and they have had the sorrow and disappointment to see their goods go to feed many an impecunious and rascally fraud, who purchased them without any intention of ever paying for them. There is at the present time much talk of combinations of various kinds, for the protection of the grocery business, and a certain youthful journal is struggling to organize a combination among the wholesalers for protective purposes, but if there is any class of business men that need protection, it is retail grocers who have been systematically plundered for years by a class of dishonest and impecunious customers.—Eugene Hall.

There has long been a suspicion that the pretty little toy balloons, of various colors, which children love to convoy about the streets at the end of a string and flaunt in one's face in street cars and railway trains, are not as innocent and harmless as they look, and a recent mishap in London strengthens this suspician. A gentleman was waiting for a "tram car" to approach when one of these balloons, floating in the air behind its proprietor, touched the end of his lighted cigar. A loud explosion instantly followed, and simultaneously the beard, moustache and eyebrows disappeared from the gentleman's face, together with a considerable amount of exposed cuticle. If Providence had not afforded the eyes a better protection than sinful mortals deserve, the unfortunate smoker would have lost his sight also.

"Ah, dearest," sighed the young man, kneeling at the feet of his ownest own, "dost thou know what of all outward things is nearest my heart?" "Really I can't say," she replied, "but if you have any regard for your health in this changeable weather, I should thiug it was a flannel shirt." She was too practical, and it broke the engagement.

If the premises of a writer in New York contemporary are correct, in forty years from now the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania will be so nearly exhausted that "anthracite will be an article of luxury, and the price it will bring will exclude the poor people from the use of this best of fuels."

TWENTY YEARS OF PROTECTION.

Free Traders are given to theorizing, as all the world knows, but the facts which refute their theories they wholly ignore. Let us glance briefly at some of the leading events in our history since the 2d day of March, 1861, when James Buchanan signed the bill embodying the Morrill tariff, which has ever since been in force, and see how completely statistics refute the Free Traders and establish the fact that Protection has promoted the prosperity of the country. The statistics which we shall quote are all taken from official sources.

Protection has not interfered with the production of our agricultural staples. Our production of cotton has increased from 4,823,770 bales in 1859 to 6,589,329 bales in 1880. Our production of corn has increased from 838,792,740 bushels in 1859 to 1,754,449,435 bushels in 1879. Our production of wheat has increased from 173,104,924 bushels in 1859 to 459,667,043 bushels in 1879. Our production of wool has increased from 90,000,000 pounds in 1861 to 232,500,000 pounds in 1879.

Nor has protection interfered with the exportation of our agricultural staples. In the fiscal year 1859 we exported 1,386,738,676 pounds of cotton, and in the fiscal year 1881 we exported 2,191,078,772 pounds. In the fiscal year 1859 we exported 1,719,998 bushels of corn, and the fiscal year 1881 we exported 91,008,175 bushels. In the fiscal year 1859 we exported 3,002,016 bushels of wheat, and in the fiscal year 1881 we exported 150,565,477 bushels.

Protection has not interfered with our exports of domestic merchandise to foreign countries, which include all products of American industry except the precious metals. These have steadily increased from $337,518,102, in gold values, during the fiscal year 1866, which was the first year after the war, to 883,925,947 in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1881. Nor has Protection prevented an increase in our consumption of foreign merchandise, our net profits having increased from $423,470,646 in the fiscal year 1866 to $624,213,229 in the fiscal year 1881. Our total foreign trade, including net imports and net exports of merchandise and specie, has increased from $760,988,748 in 1866 to $1,508,139,176 in 1881.

Protection has not interfered with the creation of a balance of trade in our favor in our commerce with foreign countries. In the last six fiscal years we have exported $1,180,668,105 worth of agricultural products and other merchandise more than we have imported, which sum foreign countries have been compelled to pay us in part in gold. Through this turning of the balance of trade in our favor, and through no other influence whatever, were we enabled to 1879 to resume specie payment.

Protection has not interfered with the payment of our national debt. Immediately after the close of the civil war, on the 31st of August, 1865, our total debt, less cash in the Treasury, was $2,756,431,571.43, and the interest on the debt in that year was $150,977,697.87. Sixteen years afterwards, on the 1st of July, 1881, the debt had been reduced to $1,819,650,154.23, and the annual interest thereon had been reduced to $75,018,695.50. In these sixteen years the debt was reduced exactly one-third and the interest was reduced exactly one-half.

Protection has not interfered with the receipts of the United States Treasury from duties on imports. In the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1860, the last fiscal year before the civil war, and the last under the revenue tariff of 1857, the receipts from customs were $53,187,511.87, and in the fiscal year which ended June 30, 1881, they were $198,159,676.02, or nearly four times as large as in 1860. In no year since the close of the civil war have the receipts from customs fallen below $130,000,000, while the average annual receipts during this period have been above $172,000,000, or more that three times the receipts of the fiscal year 1860.

Protection has not prevented an increase in the twenty mileage of the country. In the twenty years from 1861 to 1880, both years inclusive, we built 63,036 miles of road, which was more than twice the number of miles we built in the thirty preceding years. When the Morrill tariff was passed we had 30,635 miles of railroad; at the close of the present year (1881) we will have 100,000 miles. In the last two years (1880 and 1881) we have built more miles of railroad than were built in the first years after the passage of the revenue tariff of 1846.

Protection has not prevented a decrease in the cost of railroad transportation for our agricultural products. After the completion, in 1834, of the Pennsylvania canal and railroads it cost $1.12½ to transport a barrel of flour from Pittsburg to Philadelphia, a distance of 400 miles. In November, 1881, it cost 50 cents to transport a barrel of flour by railroad from Chicago to New York, a distance of 1,000 miles. In 1873 the railroad freight on a bushel of wheat from Chicago to New York, a distance of nearly 1,000 miles, averaged 32½ cents; in 1878 the average had fallen to 17½ cents; and at the present time the rate is only 15 cents. The Hon. Joseph Nimmo, Jr., the Chief of the National Bureau of Statistics, states that the average rate of freight per ton per mile on thirteen leading railroads was 1.77 cents in 1873 and 1.07 cents in 1880. Mr. Henry V. Poor says that "the charge in 1860 for moving a ton of freight one mile on the New York Central Railroad was 2.065 cents; the cost was 1,343 cents; net, 7.22 mills. The charge in 1870 was 1.863 cents; cost, 1.153; net, 7.10 mills. In 1880 the charge was 8.79 mills; cost, 5.42 mills; net, 3.37 mills per ton per mile. The charge in 1880 was about three mills less than the cost in 1870. The percentage of profit, notwithstanding, was greater in 1880 than in 1860 or in 1870." Mr. Edward Atkinson, of Boston, has recently shown that the freight charges for the movement from Chicago to Boston, a distance of 1,000 miles, of one year's subsistance of grain and meat for an adult workingman amounts to but $1.25, which sum is only one day's wages of a common laborer, or half the daily wages of a good carpenter or mason.

Railroad authorities say that the introduction of Bessemer steel rails has enabled them to reduce their rates of transportation. Protection has not interfered with the production of these rails in this country, nor has it increased their cost to the railroads. The first Bessemer steel rails made in the United States were rolled in 1865, and in the sixteen years which have since elapsed American mills have made 4,500,000 gross tons of these rails. In 1864, when our first Bessemer steel works were undertaken, American railroad managers paid from $80 to $112 in gold per ton for English steel rails delivered at English seaports; and in 1867, when American mills were ready to receive orders for steel rails, the price of these rails in England still ranged from $72.50 to 77.50 in gold. Since 1867 the competition of American mills has greatly reduced the price of both English and American steel rails. In July, 1870, when the present duty on steel rails was imposed, the price of English steel rails at English seaports was $55 a ton, in gold; since 1870 at least a million tons of American steel rails have been sold below $55 a ton in currency. In 1877, ten years after the American mills were prepared to manufacture steel rails to fill orders, the price of their rails had been reduced to $40 a ton, and to-day, notwithstanding the extraordinary demand for steel rails, and the appreciation in the values of the raw materials from which they are manufactured, the price is only $00 a ton.

Protection has not prevented an increase of our population by immigration. In the twenty years from 1861 to 1880, both years inclusive, it has increased from this source 5,378,728 souls. During the year 1880 we received 593,703 immigrants, a larger number than ever arrived on our shores in any preceding year.

—The following extracts from a gentleman of prominence in Manchester, England, on subjects claming the attention of our people, are sent to the GAZETTE for publication:

"I cannot tell you how profoundly Great Britain was moved by the murder of your grand President. Mr. Garfield, and how day by day during all the weeks he lay wasting away we turned to that item of news in our morning and evening papers first of all to see how he was doing. If he had been our own (and he was) we could not have sympathised more deeply or grieved more truly when he died. Had you seen our cities the day of his funeral you would have said "a prince and a great man has fallen this day" in England.

"We are in great trouble with Ireland, and I am sorry that the American Irish are more, than less, at the bottom of it with their supply of money. I wish it could be known in America by the Irish there how much they contribute to the funds of the land league and how little of the sum total is sent to Ireland. It is believed nere that not a third of all that is subscribed finds its way across the seas, but that the largest share is "collared" by the O'Donovan Rosa's and others of that ilk on your side the water.

—The Director General of the Atlanta Exposition has issued an address to the press in which he says that it is impossible to alter the date (December 31) fixed for the closing of the Exhibition. The last week, he says, will be in all respects the most interesting and important of the Exposition, and the closing ceremony will be particularly impressive. In conclusion Mr. Kimball says. "In giving to the press this, which will probably be the last general bulletin I shall issue, I desire to thank the journals of this country for the untiring and unstinted support they have given to the Exposition from first to last. To this, more than to all other causes, its magnificent success is to be ascribed."

—A singular story comes from Gardiner, N. Y. A father horsewhipped his pretty and well-grown daughter for going to the theatre with a young man he disliked. Her brother appeared on the scene and gave the old gentleman a sound thrashing. The father obtained a shot gun. Then the mother appeared and the son escaped, the father pursuing him, firing the weapon at the retreating boy. The son therefore had the father arrested and bound over to keep the peace. This so angered him that he forbade mother, son or daughter to ever enter the house again. Then the mother left the house, taking half of all it contained in lighter articles. Now it turns out that the brother has mysteriously disappeared, and whether dead or alive, cannot be found.

—Among the numerous fairs and festivals being held at this season of the year the one to be given for the benefit of the Hook and Ladder Company should receive a share of public attention. It will be held in Cabeen's Hall, begining on Monday evening next, and will continue through the week. It will be made as attractive as possible and should be well patronized. Give the Hook and Ladder boys a good substantial endorsement. They deserve it.

—Secretary Folger in his annual report recommends a revision of the tariff, the abolition of all internal taxes, except those on whiskey and tobacco and the tax on the manufacturers thereof. He recommends the retirement of the silver certificates, the suspension of the coinage of the silver dollars and the passage of a law facilitating the reorganization of national banks where charters are about to expire.

—Col. John W. Forney, the veteran journalist and politician, died early on Friday morning last, at his residence on South Washington Square, Philadelphia, in the 65th year of his age, from the effects of a heavy cold, which precipitated an attack of Bright's disease of the kidneys.

—Secretary Blaine and Mr. Frelinghuysen held a conference yesterday, at which it was arranged that the latter would assume the duties of Secretary of State on next Monday. On Monday evening Mr. Blaine tenders a reception to his successor, on which occasion the diplomatic corps will be presented.

—Mr. Scoville, Guiteau's brother-in-law and counsel, lectured, last night, in Washington, on the case, complaining of the general disposition to consign his client to the gallows regardless of the open question as to his sanity. He stated his belief that the prisoner will be assassinated before the end of the trial.

—It appears to be settlrd that, among the Committees of the House of Representatives, Judge Kelley will be Chairman of the Committee of Ways and Means, and Mr. Hiscock, of New York, Chairman of Committee of Appropriations.

—The nomination and prompt confirmation of Mr. Frelinghuysen as Secretary of state is the first step toward the formation of a permanent cabinet by President Arthur. He has made a good start, and future nominations will probably be equally acceptable.

--Colonel A. F. Rockwell, who is the only person that was present both at the assassination and death of President Garfield, happens to have been the officer detailed by Secretary Stanton as soon as President Lincoln was shot to be on guard at the house where the President was lying, and he witnessed the death struggle the next morning, as he did that of General Garfield at Elberon.

LOCAL ITEMS.

—The Northcott Concert Combination will give a concert in the Chapel of St. James Church, on next Thursday evening. It will prove without doubt to be one of the most enjoyable entertainments given here this season. Miss Tillie Somers, who has several times appeared before Bristol audiences, and always won the highest praise, is a member of the combination. The Chape should be crowded on the evening of this entertainment.

—On Saturday last the Hulmeville Manufacturing Co. sold their real estate at public sale. George W. Hill was the purchaser at $5,000. Mr. Hill, it is stated, will rebuild as soon as possible.

—The Minnie-ha-ha Archery Club, of Tullytown, will give a literary Entertainment, at Cullen's Hall, on the 27th inst. The proceeds will be invested in targets, arrows, bows, and other implements of Indian warfare.

—List of letters remaining in the Bristol Post Office, Wednesday evening:— S. A. Allen, Guardian; G. W. & H. S. Barthlemen; Eldridge Everitt; Mrs. Harriet Harrison; Mary Hueston; S. J. James; Daniel Spence, J. A. Vandegrift.

—The first number of the Tacony New Era, Watson & Muncey, publishers, has been received. It presents a neat and creditable appearance, and its columns show that its editor is one possessing both tact and ability. We wish the enterprising firm great success.

They anticipate meeting a generous response from our merchants and tradesmen.

—It is said that there is a strong probability of a railroad being constructed from Absecom village, nine miles this side of Atlantic City, to Leed's Point, and thence to Brigantine. From Leed's Point to Long Beach there is sufficient depth of water to run the largest class steamboats.

—The small building formerly used as a barber shop at Tullytown, has been removed to Cold Spring, to be used as a station house in place of the one that was burned.

—The session of the Court for the trial of Guiteau was cut short yesterday by the indisposition of one of the jurors. Three witnesses were examined—the Rev. Dr. Winthrow, of Boston. C. A. Bryan, an insurance clerk in New York, and H. M. Collyer, a New York lawyer. These witnesses testified to their acquaintance with the assassin, whose sanity none of them had ever questioned. The assassin became enraged as usual, and was permitted to insult the witnesses and the District Attorney.

—The latest good story in the Chicago papers is that of the man returning home late at night, stopped under an electric lamp-post to look at his watch, and who then buttoned his overcoat around the post and stood there in fear and trepidation under the impression that the electric current had got hold of him and was keeping him fast to the post.

—That celebrated case—the Armstrong murder—which kept the public in a sensation until the hanging of Benjamin Hunter, is once more recalled by Mrs. Armstrong, widow of the murdered man, bringing suit against the insurance companies to recover $26.000, the amount of the policies on his life.

—The current number of Harper's Weekly contains an excellent portrait of Hon. J. W. Keifer, Speaker of the House of Representatives.

—The largest tannery in the world is just being completed at Morris, Pa. Threee engines and ten boilers will furnish motive power, and 100 cords of bark will be ground daily.

—At Philadelphia, yesterday evening, Bailey & Co's rope and twine manufactory was destroyed by fire. Loss between $150,000 and $200,000; partially insured.

—The members of the A. M. E. Church will hold a fair and festival in their church building on Pond street, beginning on Monday evening, January 2nd. The proceeds are for the especial benefit of the pastor.

—People who are in a position to know say that Frank Hatton, who succeeds Judge Tyner as assistant postmaster general, "knows more about the postal service than Tyner ever dreamed of." That is easily explained. Hatton is an editor. So is Secretary Blaine, and President Arthur is a printer. What the departments at Washington need is more editors—though we made a resolve at the beginning of the year not to accept a government office.—Norristown Herald.

—At the last stated meeting of the Executive Committee of the Bi-Centennial Association, the following Preamble and Resolutions were unanimously adopted:—

"WHEREAS, Sunday, January 1, 1882, will introduce the Two Hundreth Year since the Landing of WILLIAM PENN on our shores, and the Founding of the State of Pennsylvania upon the principles of religious and civil liberty which have ever been the chief glory of our Commonwealth; AND WHEREAS, it seems especially fitting that the people should celebrate this day in an appropriately devout manner, in their respective places of public worship; therefore,

"Resolved, That it be respectfully suggested to the Ministers of all congregations of Religious Bodies within the bounds of our Commonwealth, to make such reference, in their sermons or addresses, on Sunday, January 1, 1882, to the Two HUNDRETH ANNIVERSARY of the events before mentioned, as to them may seem meet and proper, with view to the perpetuation of civil and religious liberty within the boundaries of Pennsylvania.

"Resolved, That the Churches in the city of Philadelphia, and throughout the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, be also requested to have their chimes, or bells, rung in honor of this event.

THE INDIANS.

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Dec. 14.

The government scout, Gilson, reports to General Pope that there will be an uprising of the Utes, Piutes and Navajoes in the spring that will cause much trouble to the white settlers in the valleys. He says a junction of the bands will be formed probably at some place in New Mexico. The Utes, who have been placed in Utah, are being freely furnished with arms and provisions by the Mormons, who are affiliating with the Indians and giving them whiskey. Gilson is the oldest scout in the service and is considered thoroughly reliable.

The Collector of Customs at Pembina, now in St. Paul, has received a telegram from the United States Commissioner announcing that a delegation of Indians had arrived at Pembina from the Pembina Mountains, some thirty miles distant, with information that the Indians there were starving, owing to the smallpox regulations, which prevents them from securing supplies from the settlements. Captain Collins, of Fort Pembina, has volunteered to forward provisions to these Indians. The facts have been telegraphed to Washington, with a request that authority be granted for sending a small supply of army rations to the famishing Indians. They reside on unceded lands of their tribe, and both the Indian and War departments have been advised that immediate relief is needed to save their lives.

THE REMAINS OF A SEA MONSTER.—The petrified remains of the large sea serpent which were found in the marl pit of O. C. Herbert, at Marlboro, N. J., last week, were supplemented on Monday by the discovery of the remains of another animal. Only two large tusks and portions of the jaw bone of the reptile were, however, found intact, the other bones crumbling to pieces when exposed to the air. The bones found last week are all well preserved, and the tusks are remarkable for their size and fine natural polish. Professor Samuel Lockwood gives the following description of the reptile: "It was a monster of great bulk. It had two paddles well forward and two behind, the body being short and stout. The bones of the paddles, from their size and solidity, indicate extraordinary propelling power. The tail was stout, long and serpentine, but a little flatish, thus affording great aid in propulsion by a sculling movement. The neck was long, and yet thick enough to support the head high out of water while the monster was engaged in devouring its prey. The huge jaws were armed with tusks which were more formidable than those of the crocodile. The lower jaw was very singular in structure and had a joint like an elbow. In the act of swallowing the reptile could enlarge its gullet by means of this elbow joint. The act of swallowing was necessarily slow, and the reptile no doubt would have had great trouble in retaining in its mouth its struggling prey if it had not been for a supplementary jaw, which was used as a grapnel. This was armed with small teeth, which were curved in shape and very sharp. As the large jaws with their great tusks were being opened so as to obtain a new hold, the little grapnel jaw held the struggling prey fast, and the movements alternated until the fish or other prey was forced down the great throat."

The only bones of this monster reptile of the antediluvian age known are those found in the marl pits of Mr. Herbert, and no name has yet been found for it by the scientists.

A BENEFICIENT ACTION.—The worn look and miserable feelings of those closely confined in mills, or at desks or work-tables, are caused by weak Stomach, Kidneys or Bowels, and show the necessity for some mild tonic to build them up. No one need suffer thus who will use Parker's Ginger Tonic; for without intoxicating it has such a beneficient action on these sluggish organs and so cleanses the poisonous matters from the system, that rosy cheeks and good health and spirits are soon brought back again.—Express. See adv.

—The enormous circulation attained by The New York Tribune attests its remarkable popularity. It stands to-day in the very front rank of American newspapers. This position has been won, in the teeth of the sharpest newspaper rivalry, by its enterprise in its news department, by the able and brilliant character of its editorials, and by its unwavering devotion to Republican principles. Its prospectus for 1882, and its great premium offers, will be found in another column.

The New York Tribune.

"The Leading American Newspaper."

During the year 1882 THE TRIBUNE hopes to employ with increasing success the work and the methods which have won for it so large a measure of popular approval. It has attained, and means never to lose, the high standard of success which was aimed at by its founder, the largest circulation among the best people. So large a circulation and one so widely distributed over the entire territory of the Nation has never been attained by any other newspaper in the United States. We accept this fact as the verdict of the American people upon the conduct and character of the TRIBUNE. The position it occupies could never have been gained nor retained but by pre-eminent merits as a newspaper, as an organ of sound opinion, and an advocate of just public measures.

In short, the TRIBUNE will, as heretofore, continue to be the medium of the best thought and the voice of the best conscience of the time; will keep abreast of the highest progress, favor the freest discussion, hear all sides, appeal always to the most enlightened intelligence and the purest morality, and refuse peremptorily to cater to the tastes of the vile or the prejudices of the ignorant.

The well-known special features of the TRIBUNE will be carefully maintained. Its Agricultural Department will remain as it is, the fullest and best. The Household and Young Folks' Departments, the literary, scientific, and religious features, the standard market reports, will all be kept up and extended as opportunity may serve.

VALUABLE PREMIUMS.—The TRIBUNE has never been equaled by any other paper in the permanent and substantial value of its premiums, and the extraordinary liberality of the terms upon which it has offered them to the public. We take pleasure in calling attention of all intelligent readers to the following offers.

The Library of Universal Knowledge, embracing Chambers' Encyclopædia complete, omitting only some of the cuts, with extensive additions by an able corps of American editors, treating about 15,000 additional topics, thoroughly Americanizing the entire work, adding to it over 25 per cent of the latest, freshest, and most valuable matter, the whole making 15 Handsome Octavo Volumes of 6 by 9½ inches in size, averging nearly 900 pages, and neatly and substantially bound in cloth.

Charles Dickens' Complete Works. An entirely new edition of the complete works of Charles Dickens, printed from new electrotype plates, large, clear type, on fine calendered paper, in 15 volumes, 5¾ by 7¾ inches in size, containing over 800 pages each, beautifully bound in cloth, gilt. This is one of the handsomest editions of Dickens's works ever issued. The price of the set of 15 volumes is $22.50. We can send either Dickens's or the Library of Universal Knowledge, as above described, on the following terms:

For $15,	The LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE or DICKENS'S COMPLETE WORKS, as above described, and the WEEKLY TRIBUNE, 5 years to one subscriber.
For $20,	The LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE, or DICKENS'S COMPLETE WORKS, as above described, and THE SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE 5 years to one subscriber.
For $19,	The LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE OR DICKENS'S COMPLETE WORKS, as above described, and ten copies of THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE one year.
For $28,	The LIBRARY OF UNIVERSAL KNOWLEDGE OR DICKENS'S COMPLETE WORKS, as above described, and twenty copies of THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE one year.

The postage on the Library of Universal Knowledge, if sent by mail will be 21 cents per volume; on Dickens's Works 15 cents per volume, which the subscriber will remit if wishing them thus sent. In packages, by express, they can be had much cheaper.

The Great Bible Concordance.

ANALYTICAL CONCORDANCE to the BIBLE on an entirely new plan, containing every original word in alphabetical order, arranged under its Hebrew or Greek original, with the literal meaning of each, and its pronunciation; exhibiting 311,000 references, 118,000 beyond Cruden; marking 30,000 various readings in the New Testament; with the latest information on Biblical Geography and Antiquities, etc. By Robert Young, LL.D., author of a new Literal Translation of the Hebrew and Greek Scriptures; Concise, Critical Comments on the same; a Grammatical Analysis of the Minor Prophets in Hebrew; Biblical Notes and Queries; Hebrew Grammar, etc.

This great work is comprised in one handsome quarto volume, containing 1,100 three-column pages, neatly and substantially bound in cloth.

It is at once a Concordance, a Greek, Hebrew, and English Lexicon of Bible works, and a Scriptural Gazetteer, and will be as valuable to students of the Holy Scriptures as an Unabridged Dictionary is to the general reader. In fact, every home that has a Bible in it ought also to have this great help to Bible reading and study. It is as well adapted to the use of the common reader as to that of the scholarly clergyman.

We offer it, in connection with the TRIBUNE, at the following remarkably low rates:

For $11 the Concordance and one copy of the SEMI-WEEKLY TRIBUNE five years, or five copies one year, to different addresses.

For $6 the Concordance and one copy of THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE five years, or five copies one year, or ten copies at the WEEKLY TRIBUNE one year, to different addresses

For $20 the Concordance and twenty copies of THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE one year, to different addresses.

The postage on the Concordance is forty cents, which the subscriber will remit if wishing it sent by mail. Except for short distances the mail will be cheaper than the express.

UNABRIDGED DICTIONARIES.—We can furnish the new revised and enlarged edition of either Webster's or Worcester's Quarto Unabridged Dictionary and THE WEEKLY TRIBUNE five years for $12; or THE SEMI-WEEKLY for $17. Remember that these are the New and Enlarged editions of these great works.

A BEAUTIFUL GIFT.

There ought to be in every home and in every office in the land good portraits of James A. Garfield and his heroic wife. To enable every one to possess them, every subscriber to the TRIBUNE who, with his subscription, will send 10 cents additional to pay for packing and postage, will receive as a present from the TRIBUNE and elegant life-like portrait or the late President Garfield or his wife, whichever may be preferred, or for 20 cents additional we will send them both. The portraits the TRIBUNE has had engraved in the best style, and they are perfect fac-similes of the best crayon likenesses ever taken of the martyr President and his noble wife. They are beautifully printed on fine plate paper, 22 by 28 inches in size, and will be ornaments to any parlor, library, or office.

—In the case of the Commonwealth vs. Wm Kollo the verdict of the jury was guilty of voluntary manslaughter On Saturday morning last he was sentenced by Judge Watson to one year and three months in the penitentiary.

—On Tuesday a couple of confidence men tried to play their game on Mr. Chris Mertz, the baker at corner of Pond and Washington street. Mr. Mertz at the outset detected the game, and by some shrewd work procured their arrest. The plan of operations presented by the sharpers was as follows The first man, introduced himself to Mr. Mertz, saying that he wanted to buy a bakery for a relative who was one of the Michigan Sufferers, and while talking about the business No. 2 stepped in with a large valise filled with linen goods which he was very anxious to sell, at what he claimed were very moderate rates. No. 1 immediately wanted to buy the goods, and confidentially informed Mr. Mertz that they were worth double the price asked for them. He did not have enough money with him however and requested Mr. Mertz to lend him eighty odd dollars until he could go to Trenton and return. Mr. Mertz apparently fell into the trap. He told the sharper that he did not have the amount with him but he would go and borrow it and went to A. Laechner's, on Penn street, accompanied by sharper No. 1 and while there managed to tell Laechner privately that he wanted a constable to arrest the man He then went back to his place of business and kept the two there until Constable Akerson made his appearance, when they were arrested and taken to the lockup 'Squire Bailey was out of town until evening at about 8 o'clock they had a hearing. One of the men pretended he could speak no English while the other protested his entire innocence and said that they were entire strangers. The 'Squire released them until 9 o'clock yesterday morning, holding the goods as security for their appearance at that time. He holds the goods yet.

Council Proceedings.

A stated meeting of Council was held at the Council chamber on last Monday evening The Ordinance Committee reported two ordinances, one repealing the ordinance relative to the use of public sewers and remitting all debts for rental, and ordering all money paid, under its provisions to be returned to the parties. The other ordinance grants authority to the Burgess to issue his proclamation, whenever in his judgment the public welfare requires it, restraining dogs from running at large. The Ordinance Committee also submitted a communication from Corporation Counsel stating that the borough has no power to prescribe by ordinance that the whole or any part of the penalty for the violation of any ordinance shall go to the Constable or other person, but that the entire penalty must be paid into the Borough Treasury.

The Burgess was authorized to appoint William Hoot, special policeman, to serv without pay. Council then adjourneed.

More about the Library

Class A of the Bristol Library comprises the solid and substantial products of the press that never go out of fashion. Histories, Biographies, Travels, and works relating to countries, are the kind of books that give permanent value to a library, for they comprehend within their domain vast stores of knowledge.

Class B is scarcely less important, and it is far more varied. It represents the Miscellaneous field of literature. Science and Art, Philosophy, Criticism, Essays and Cyclopedias come within its hospitable range. The best thoughts of the best writers on subjects of general interest find a habitation there. Books gay and grave, solemn and sprightly—books of interest to the old, attractive to the young, and entertaining to all, are to be found in this diversified section.

Class C is devoted to works of Fiction. As far as practicable these have been judiciously chosen. They have their place in every well-regulated library, contributing to its life if not to its longevity. Though shunned by some they are the joy of others, affording a diversion that nothing else can bestow. Some of the best works of the best writers in this department of literature are on the shelves of the Library.

Class D is not popular but it is not wholly valueless. Indeed, Public Documents supply information that can be derived from no other source. Agriculture, Mineral Wealth, Geology, the Indians, and other subjects are treated of in a peculiar manner, and one may become wisely enlightened by acquaintance with these bulky volumes.

Class F is made up almost exclusively of the "Franklin Square Library," published by the Harpers. These already number over two hundred volumes. They are stitched in thick paper covers, due to the kindly interest and patience of a few young friends of the Library, who have thus given them some protection against the wear and tear of handling. It is a mistake to suppose that this cheap form of literature is composed entirely of novels. On the contrary, it includes some of the most weighty and substantial works of the best known authors.

Class G comprises such magazines as are taken by the Library. These at present are few in number. As the Library advances in years and increases in financial power, it is probable that this department will expand into more generous proportions. Periodical literature is becoming more valuable and more important year after year, and commands ever-increasing attention from the reading public.

Every good library merits the appreciation of the community where it is established. Silently but surely it exerts a healthful and lasting influence. No one can go amiss either in securing its benefits, or in encouraging others to draw upon such a fountain of help. Too young or too old one cannot be to derive advantage from the precious habit of reading. Parents cannot do a worthier service to their children than place within their reach the means of growth in knowledge, of mental culture, of moral improvement. Give your boy or girl a useful and entertaining book—give your children access to a general collection of books, and encourage them to gather wisdom from their pages, wisdom, and knowledge, and ennobling sentiments, and you will render credit to yourself, honor to them, and respect to the community.

—On Friday evening, December 9th, the wool-sorters of Messrs. Grundy Bros & Campion, assembled at the Delaware House, Bristol, for the purpose of presenting to Mr. Edwin Parsons, their late foreman, with a silver hunting watch, gold chain and seal as a token of respect, on his retiring from the above firm to fill a higher position in Louisville, Ky. Prof Brookie, the wizard of Bucks County, was elected Chairman, which position he filled with marked ability. After the presentation had taken place and responded to by Edwin Parsons, the remainder of the evening was passed with vocal and instrumental music, recitations, dialogues and addresses. John Swales, the famous basso sang "King David" in fine style; J. W. Hart's song "I will stand by my Friend," brought forth rounds of applause, Jonas Mitchell sang "Belle—My Own," which called forth an encore. George Popperwell sang one of his favorite comic songs, which caused much merriment, Robert Laycock gave one of his much admired recitations. "Cato's Soliloquy," and was heartily encored; Fred Thornber, followed with some fine selections on the organ, which called for a hearty encore. Messrs. Cottshott and Willingmyre, the silver tongued cornet players, favored the company with some good selections of operas, and other songs were given in fine style by Messrs. Ray, Lawrence, Cooper, Crow, Robertson, Botton, Wilkinson, Sanderson, Scott and others. Refreshments, of which there was no stint, were partaken of and at a late hour the participants separated for their homes.

—The Bristol Improvement Company have leased the Keystone mill to Messrs. M. S. & S. M. Herman, of New York, for the manufacture of a high class of knitting yarns. The mill will be under the personal management of Mr. William Walton, of Germantown, who will probably become a resident of Bristol. An additional one story building 30 by 50 feet will be erected for a picker house. The new tenants take possession on January 1st, and as the Messrs. Harned paid the rent up to November 15th, the Improvement Company are fortunate in having lost only six weeks rental.

—General Davis, of the Doylestown Democrat, was in Penns Manor last Thursday gathering up relics of the olden time. He obtained a brick from the old Penn Mansion, where William Crozier now resides, to preserve among the other articles of by-gone years now in his possession.

—Mr. B F. Duane, the noted character delineator, will give one of his mirth provoking entertainments at Washington Hall, on Thursday evening, January 12. Mr. Duane will appear under the auspices of the Bristol Library Association, and the net proceeds will be devoted to its benefit.

The Very Busy Corner.

Thanks by the thousand to the excellent people who have sent us such loads of customers this year. Old friends are certainly remembering old friends.

Not in all the twenty-three years that the old corner has been a busy place, has it been busier than these days, when all our own manufactured goods are in such demand.

There may have been one or two busier times, such as the "Executor's Sale," but this winter is a good match of Oak Hall's best times, and the splendid stock we are now displaying surpasses those of past years.

Ask to see the $12 Heavy Skeleton Overcoat with fancy back. It is a great bargain.

We expect to-day to have every part of our stock in complete condition.

A NEW PROCESS FOR PRESERVING ALL PERISHABLE ARTICLES, ANIMAL AND VEGETABLE, FROM FERMENTATION AND PUTREFACTION, RETAINING THEIR ODOR & FLAVOR.

"OZONE—Purified air, active state of oxygen —WEBSTER.

This Preservative is not a liquid, pickle or any of the old and exploded processes, but is simply and purely OZONE, as produced and applied by an entirely new process Ozone is the antiseptic principle of every substance, and possesses the power to preserve animal and vegetable structures from decay There is nothing on the face of the earth liable to decay or spoil which OZONE, the new Preservative, will not preserve for all time in a perfectly fresh and palatable condition

The value of Ozone as a natural preserver has been known to our abler chemists for years, but until now no means of producing it in a practical, inexpensive, and simple manner have been discovered Microscopic observations prove that decay is due to septic matter, or minute germs that develop and feed upon animal and vegetable structures Ozone, applied by the Prentiss method, seizes and destroys these germs at once, and thus preserves At our offices in Cincinnati can be seen almost every article that can be thought of preserved by this process and every visitor is welcome to come in, taste, smell, take away with him, and test in every way the merits of Ozone as a preservative We will also preserve, free of charge, any article that is brought or sent prepaid to us, and return it to the sender, for him to keep and test

EGGS can be treated at a cost of less than one dollar a thousand dozen, and be kept in an ordinary room for six months or more, thoroughly preserved, the yolk held in its normal condition, and the eggs as fresh and perfect as on the day they were treated, and will sell as strictly "choice" The advantage in preserving eggs is readily seen, there are seasons when they can be bought for 8 or 10 cts a dozen, and by this method can be sold for an advance of from one hundred to three hundred per cent One man with this method can preserve 5 000 dozen a day

FRUITS may be permitted to ripen in their native climate, and can be transported to any part of the world. The juice expressed from fruits can be held for an indefinite period without fermentation—hence the great value of this process for producing a temperance beverage Milk and cider can be held perfectly sweet any length of time

VEGETABLES can be kept for an indefinite period in their natural condition, retaining their odor and flavor, treated in their original packages, at a small expense All grain, flour, meal, etc, are held in their normal condition

FRESH MEATS, such as beef, mutton, veal, pork, poultry, game, fish, etc, preserved by this method, can be shipped to Europe, subjected to atmospheric changes, and return to this country in a state of perfect preservation

BUTTER, AFTER BEING TREATED BY THIS PROCESS WILL NOT BECOME RANCID.

Dead human bodies, treated before decomposition sets in, can be held in a natural condition for weeks, without puncturing the skin or mutilating the body in any way Hence the great value of Ozone to undertakers.

There is no change in the slightest particular in the appearance of any article thus preserved, and no trace of any foreign or unnatural odor or taste

The process is so simple that a child can operate it as well and as successfully as a man There is no expensive apparatus or machinery required

A room filled with different articles, such as eggs, meat, fish, etc, can be treated at one time without additional trouble or expense

In fact, there is nothing that Ozone will not preserve Think of everything you can that is liable to sour, decay or spoil and then remember that we guarantee that Ozone will preserve it in exactly the condition you want it for any length of time If you will remember this it will save asking questions as to whether Ozone will preserve this or that article—it will preserve anything and everything you can think of

There is not a township in the United States in which a live man cannot make any amount of money, from $1 000 to $10,000 a year that he pleases We desire to get a live man interested in each County in the United States, in whose hands we can place this Preservative, and through him secure the business which every county ought to produce

A FORTUNE Awaits any man who secures Control of Ozone in any Town'p or Co.

A C Bowen, Marion, Ohio clears $2 000 in two months $2 for a test package was his first investment
Woods Brothers Lebanon Warren County, Ohio made $5 000 on eggs purchased in July and sold November 1st $2 for a test package was their first investment

F K Raymond, Morristown, Belmont County Ohio is clearing $2 000 a month in handling and selling Ozone $2 for a test package was his first investment

D F Webber, Charlotte, Eaton Co., Mich., has cleared $1,000 a month since August $2 for a test package was his first investment

J B Gaylord 80 LaSalle St., Chicago is preserving eggs, fruit, etc, for the commission men of Chicago, charging 1¼c per dozen for eggs, and other articles in proportion He is preserving 5,000 dozen eggs a day, and on his business is making $3 000 a month clear, $2 for a test package was his first investment

The Cincinnati Feed Company, 498 West Seventh Street, is making $5,000 a month in handling brewers' malt preserving and shipping it as feed to all parts of the country Malt unpreserved sours in twenty-four hours Preserved by Ozone it keeps perfectly sweet for months

These are instances which we have asked the privilege of publishing There are scores of others Write to any of the above parties and get the evidence direct

Now, to prove the absolute truth of everything we have said in this paper, we will give to any one who places in our hands the means of proving for yourself that we have not claimed half enough To any person who doubts any of these statements and who is interested sufficient to make the trip, we will pay all traveling and hotel expenses for a visit to this city, if we fail to prove any statement that we have made

HOW TO SECURE A FORTUNE WITH OZONE

A test package of Ozone, containing a sufficient quantity to preserve 1000 dozen eggs, or other articles in proportion, will be sent to any applicant on receipt of $2 This package will enable the applicant to pursue any line of tests and experiments he desires and thus satisfy himself as to the extraordinary merits of Ozone as a Preservative After having thus satisfied himself, and had time to look the field over to determine what he wishes to do in the future—whether to sell the article to others, or to confine it to his own use, or any other line of policy which is best suited to him and to his township or county—we will enter into an arrangement with him that will make a fortune for him and give us good profits We will give exclusive township or county privileges to the first responsible applicant who orders a test package and desires to control the business in his locality The man who secures control of Ozone for any special territory will enjoy a monopoly which will surely enrich him

Don't let a day pass until you have ordered a test package, and if you desire to secure an exclusive privilege, we assure you that delay may deprive you of it, for the applications come in to us by scores every mail—many by telegraph "First come first served" is our rule

If you do not care to send money in advance for the test package, we will send it C O D, but this will put you to the expense of charges for return of money Our correspondence is very large, we have all we can do to attend to the shipping of orders and giving attention to our working agents Therefore we cannot give attention to letters which do not order Ozone If you think of any article that you are doubtful about Ozone preserving, remember we guarantee that it will preserve it, no matter what it is

REFERENCES: We desire to call you attention to a class of references which no enterprise or firm based on anything but the soundest business success and highest commercial merit could secure

We refer, by permission, as to our integrity and to the value of the Prentiss Preservative to the following gentlemen Edward C Boyce, Member Board of Public Works, E O Eshelby, City Comptroller, Amor Smith, Jr, Collector Internal Revenue, Wulsin & Worthington, Attorneys, Martin H Marmet and B F Hopkins, County Commissioners, W S Cappeller County Auditor, all of Cincinnati, Hamilton County, Ohio These gentlemen are each familiar with the merits of our Preservative, and know from actual observation that we have without question

The Most Valuable Article in the World.

The $2 you invest in a test package will surely lead you to secure a township of county, and then your way is absolutely clear to make from $2,000 to $10,000 a year

THE SINGLE MEN.

The chilly nights have come again,
And at this time of year
The single men who sleep alone
Prance round upon their ear.

They turn the bedding quickly back,
And then they tumble in—
Roll up in little lumps—
Their knees up to their chin.

And then unto themselves they say,
Just loud enough to hear:
"By George, this has got to cease
Before another year!"

THE HOUSEHOLD.

POTATO NOODLES.—Grate one dozen of boiled potatoes, add two eggs, a little salt, half a cupful of milk, enough flour to knead stiff, then cut in small pieces, and roll long and round, one inch thick; fry in plenty of lard to a nice brown.

HAM CAKES.—A capital way of disposing of the remains of a ham, and making an excellent dish for breakfast, is: Take one and a half pounds of ham, fat and lean together; put it into a mortar and pound it, or pass it through a sausage machine. Soak a large slice of bread in a half-pint of milk, and beat it and the ham well together. Add an egg, beaten up. Put the whole into a mould, and bake a rich brown.

FIG ROLY PUDDING.—One pound of flour, six ounces of fresh beef suet, half a teaspoonful of salt, one pound of figs, one teaspoonful of baking powder. Chop the suet very fine, and remove all strings; mix well with the flour, salt, and baking powder; make into a paste with iced water, and roll out in a sheet. Cut the figs into long slices, cover the paste with them, tie in a cloth, and boil in fast boiling water for two hours.

GINGER BREAD CAKE.—Take half-pound of butter, half-pound of sugar, two ounces of ground ginger, a dessertspoonful of carbonate of soda, a pinch of salt, and two teacupfuls of flour of rice. Mix these well together, then add one pound of syrup, a gill of rich milk, and seven eggs, well beaten. Stir into this mixture as much flour as will bring it to a proper consistency. Let it lie over night; put it into a buttered tin, and bake for an hour, in a moderate oven. Any seasoning may be added. Some pieces of lemon peel are a great improvement.

POOR MAN'S SOUP.—Put one ounce of butter into a sauce pan, with three large onions, shred fine, and fry them a pale brown color; add half a tablespoonful of flour, stir for a few minutes, but do not allow the mixture to darken then add one quart of common stock, previously flavored with carrots, turnips, celery, leeks, and parsely, boiled in it; stir until the soup boils, and season it to taste with pepper and salt. Peel one or two potatoes, cut them into small dice, and put them to boil with the soup. Cut some crusts of bread in long pieces, the size, and half the length, of French beans, dry them in the oven, and, at the time of serving, throw them into the soup; then stir into it, off the fire, the yolks of two eggs, beaten up with a little milk, and strained.

THE HANDS.—In order to preserve the hands soft and white, they should always be washed in warm water, with fine soap, and carefully dried with a moderately coarse towel, being well rubbed every time, to insure a brisk circulation, than which nothing can be more effectual in procuring a transparent and soft surface. If engaged in any accidental pursuit, which may hurt the color of the hands, or if they have been exposed to the sun, a little lemon juice will restore their whiteness for the time; and lemon soap is proper to wash them with. Almond paste is of essential service in preserving the delicacy of the hands. The following is a serviceable pomade for rubbing the hands, on retiring to rest: Take two ounces of sweet almonds, beat with three drachms of white wax and three drachms of spermaceti, beaten up carefully in rose water. Gloves should be always worn on exposure to the atmosphere.

Speaker Keifer, in his excellent address on taking the chair, hoped the present Congress would be marked peculiarly as a "business Congress." This sentiment will be warmly indorsed by the whole country. The routine politicians should be sent to the rear. We have had too much politics in Congress during the last four or five years. Great and important questions affecting the financial, commercial and other material concerns of the country demand honest, intelligent consideration and settlement. If Congress will do the work it has been called together to do the people will take care of the politics when the time comes. The revision of the tariff, the revival of our commerce, the restoration of the navy, the reduction of internal taxation, the relief of industry, are the questions that should engage the attention of the Washington statesmen during the next six months. Let them follow the advice of the speaker and make it a business Congress.—New York Herald.

A WHIPPITY-WHOP PARTY.—A pat illustration of the sort of whiffling and hsambling that makes the Democratic party contemptible and keeps it in a deserved minority was shown in the caucus of the Democratic Representatives at Washington on Saturday. That body actually refused, after copious discussion, to reaffirm the Democratic platform of 1880. That is, the Democrats of '81 are afraid to commit themselves to the doctrines on which, in '80, they asked the country to base the Government! Democracy is one thing this year and another thing next year. The party is like the Western stump-orator who said at the end of his speech, "Feller-citizens, them are my sentiments; but if they don't suit they can be changed."—The Buffalo Express.

—Frank E. Marvin, of Chicago, was infatuated with the widow Dowling, in whose boarding-house he lived; but she cared nothing for him except as a promptly-paying boarder, and therefore kept him in suspense as to her real sentiments. "I am tired of waiting for your answer," he said the other day at the dinner table. "Say you will marry me or I'll swallow this poison with my coffee;" and he took the drug from his pocket. The widow laughed at him, thinking it was a joke. "Once for all," he solemnly protested; "say yes, or I'll die right here." She said no, and he was dead in an hour.

—The proposition is again started to have a private residence for the President independent of the Executive Mansion, which could be used for official receptions and offices. There is no reason why this should not be carried out. The present is a kind of official hotel, where everybody feels privileged to enter without knocking.

—In Kentucky the colored people are obliged to pay a poll-tax, which the whites are relieved from, also a school fund is especially set apart for white schools. This is believed to be a violation of the Fourteenth Amendment of the National Constitution, and suit is to be brought to decide it.

(Jackson, (Mich.) Daily Patriot.)

We learn from Mess. Moore & Humphrey, that St. Jacobs Oil is regarded as the very best selling liniment ever sold, and is giving the highest satisfaction. It has effected many good cures.

In Belgium, at a railway station, an employe, placed as a sign-post at a certain door, repeats incessantly, with arm outstretched, "Passengers who have luggage will pass through this door. Passengers who have not luggage will also pass through this door."

☞ Coal Oil or Petroleum may be very nice for illuminating or lubricating purposes, but surely it is not the proper thing to cure a cough with. Dr. Bull's Cough Syrup is looked upon as the standard Cough remedy.

☞ Pure Spices, whole and ground at Pursell's.

☞ A TRAVELER'S STORY.—After spending months at European and American watering places and thousands of dollars looking for health, I returned home disheartened and wretched. I had consulted the best physicians and traveled far and near without benefit, and expected to die. A friend urged a trial of Parker's Ginger Tonic. Three bottles and careful diet have worked wonders and brought me excellent health and spirits, and you may publish my experience for the benefit of similar sufferers.—A Cincinnati lady

☞ Ladies, and all who lead sedentary lives, should use Dr. Mettaur's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills. Price 25 cents. For sale at all Drug Stores.

☞ Having been afflicted with Hay Fever for years I gave Ely's Cream Balm a trial, was much benefitted if not permanently cured. I have had no real attacks since using it. E. H. Paugh, Editor Carbon County Democrat, Mauch Chunk, Pa. Price 50 cents.

☞ Headache, Dyspepsia, Biliousness, and Constipation cured at once by Dr. Mettaur's Headache and Dyspepsia Pills. Price 25 cents.

The renowned beauty, Ninon de l'Enclos, astonished the world by retaining the wonderful clearness and brilliancy of mind and complexion throughout her life. At the age of 95 her skin was as soft, blooming and fresh, as a girl of 16. (The secret was the discovery of the famous sage and chemist, l'Abbe d'Effiat.) At her demise she bequeathed this most valuable secret to a physician, who supplied it to the court celebrities only. At the downfall of the empire it came in possession of a celebrated American physician, who has been eminently successful in the treatment of Blood and Skin diseases; and that the public generally may enjoy the benefits of this marvelous preparation, the Doctor has placed the recipe with the Bell Mann Co. of New York, who are prepared to supply the demands of the thousands of eager applicants. It speedily eradicates all manner of BLOOD POISONING such as Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Eczema, Pimples, Moth Patches, Freckles, Black Heads, Rough Skin, Catarrh, Liver Complaint, Inflamed Eyes, &c., &c. It is an absolute antidote for MALARIA, and restores free circulation throughout the system.
